Title & WR Abstract:

Title: Empowering UglyFood

WR Abstract:

Food waste is a pertinent problem in Singapore which generates a high carbon footprint, threatens food security and exacerbates Singapore's lack of landfill space. UglyFood is an organisation aimed at reducing food waste by changing consumer attitudes towards ugly produce and selling ugly food. However, its current efforts are limited by poor outreach and ineffective incentivisation.

Taking inspiration from the National Steps Challenge™, we propose innovative strategies, in the areas of outreach and incentivisation, to increase public receptiveness towards cosmetically imperfect produce and spur consumer purchase of ugly food. In Chapter 3, we attract consumer attention through strategic publicity and integrate acceptance of ugly produce through direct engagement. In Chapter 4, we employ various incentivisation strategies to shape sustainable consumption of ugly food.

Briefly indicate what each individual presenter will focus on. (2- 3 sentences).

Bai Ruotong (30351918) + Slide no. 1 to 25:

Brief Description of speech content:

Ruotong will analyse the problem of ugly food waste in Singapore and introduce our target organisation, UglyFood, which aims to change consumer attitudes towards ugly produce. She will then elaborate on the unaddressed gaps in UglyFood's current efforts in areas of publicity and service, as well as the desired outcomes of our project.

Allison Law Li Xuan (30351917) + slide no. 26 to 36:

Brief Description of speech content:

Allison will cover strengths of our chosen model, the National Steps Challenge (NSC), in the areas of outreach and incentivisation respectively. She will then outline the overarching framework of our proposal strategies for UglyFood after drawing lessons from NSC's strengths.

Xin Qingyang (30351940) + slide no. 37 to 49:

Brief Description of speech content:

Qingyang will discuss how Uglyfood will implement physical and online outreach strategies. He will also analyse how these strategies effectively raise awareness about Uglyfood, overcome Singaporeans' emotional rejection of ugly produce and improve public perception of its taste and safety.

Liu Zihao (30351934) + slide no. 50 to 62:

Brief Description of speech content:

Zihao will share how uglyfood can further promote the acceptance of ugly food by directly engaging audiences through cooking workshops. In addition, he will analyse how uglyfood can incentivise the purchase of ugly produce by implementing a centralised and gamified mobile application as well as establishing partnerships with supermarkets.

Yang Qinghuan (30351941) + slide no. 63 to 88:

Brief Description of speech content:

Qinghuan will continue to explore how UglyFood can encourage sustained behaviour change in consumers using Nudge Theory. She will then move on to cover future extensions that UglyFood can adopt to further enhance its operations, before going through the overall strengths of the proposal.
